Prof. Gray

Dear Sir:

We wrote you some time since respecting Mr. Miller's little Introduction to Pottery - but unfortunately neglected to send the MS. We send it by mail prepaid to day, & hope it may arrive safely. If you can oblige us by a reply soon, it will facilitate our operations.

We are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the plates, & have the paper ready for printing them. It is very desirable they should soon be out, as we wish to have time before Spring to get them properly advertised, noticed, distributed &c. We hope to create some sensation with them, and are anxious to begin. When may we hope for them? do you happen to have any notices or commendations of either of the works that would be valuable to us? If so, we should very much like them.

Very Truly & Respectfully Yours &c
Iverson & Phinney W.B.
